LIBRARY CARD SIGN-UP MONTH!

This month, we at Marshall Public Library are joining forces with the American Library Association for Library Card Sign-up Month! This month, we're encouraging parents, caregivers, and students to come in and get a library card.

Our library cards not only give students access to books, but to DVDs, educational apps, science and technology activities, free-to-use computers, and a community of friendly faces.

Come and find us at the Art Walk on September 7th to sign up for a library card! For more information, give us a call at 208-232-1263 or come visit us at the library. We'd love to see your faces!

LOCAL AUTHOR EVENT

Local author Helen Keezer Burton, who you may know as a former English teacher in School District 25, is going to be doing a book reading and discussion at our library this month. Her book is called Shakespeare's True Love, and it follows the courtship, marriage, and family life of William Shakespeare and Anne Hathaway. It shows Shakespeare as a man who loves his family and is forced to work in London to support them. The novel is historical, humorous, and it's really sweet. Helen was inspired by her former students, to give them a positive depiction of the man whose writing they studied.

This book reading will be held Wednesday, September 26th at 5:30 pm here at the library. She will read a few pages of the novel, answer any questions, and sign books. Light refreshments will be served.

CORNINGWARE DISPLAY

Sixty-five years ago, chemist Don Stookey accidentally discovered an opaque glass ceramic material that would eventually become Corningware pyroceram cookware. Corningware came to embody home cooking in a variety of patterns and shapes. From the 1960's through the 1990's, everyone was cooking with Corningware.

Marshall Public Library is excited to commemorate the 60th anniversary of this 20th-century icon with a display of Corningware pieces and memorabilia loaned from the collection of Reference Specialist Trent Clegg. Come to the library and find out why people are still crazy for Corningware!

KIND WEEK CELEBRATIONS

KIND Week is coming up again! KIND Week will be celebrated the third week of September. We are so glad to be able to participate again this year. The kickoff event will take place in Old Town, Pocatello on September 17th.

Here at the library, we will have assorted kindness-based activities available to our patrons all week long. We will have opportunities to write letters to soldiers, suggestions for acts of kindness, and several more. Please stop by and get involved in making a kinder community for us all!

FALL BOOK SALE

The fall book sale from the Friends of the Marshall Public Library will be held Thursday, October 11 through Saturday, October 13th. We'd love to see you, so put it on your calendars! This is also a great time to do a little fall cleaning, as the Friends are accepting donations now. Thank you!

LABOR DAY CLOSURE

The library will be closed for the entirety of the day on Monday, September 3rd in honor of Labor Day.

We had fantastic summer readers this year! 809 people completed our summer reading challenge!
