BOOK QUEST UPDATE!

In 2018, we tried something new: our 50/50 Book Quest! Challenge participants joined the quest to read 50 books in 50 weeks. This was not a simple task! There were 50 unique categories that books must fit into: a classic, a book with a color in the title, a book by an Idaho author, etc. 206 people registered for the challenge this year! We're thrilled that so many people wanted to challenge themselves and join our reading community. We're even more thrilled that over 60 people completed the quest this year and earned a t-shirt.

This challenge will begin again on January 7th, 2019 with different categories. Join the 50/50 Book Quest today! Adults may register at the library or online today and begin the quest to read 50 books in 50 weeks this year. Follow us on Facebook to see our weekly videos and give you ideas for books to fill the categories. We will also have displays throughout the year to help you out. You're also always welcome to come and chat with a librarian. We're happy to help you on your quest!

May you have a happy and book-filled 2019!

WINTER READING

Warm up this winter by wrapping up in a warm blanket and reading a book! This January and February, our library is once again hosting a winter reading program: Reading is Snow Cool! This program is for all ages and reading levels. It will run from January 2nd through March 9th. Registration begins January 2nd.

At registration, adults, children, and teens will receive a reading log. Children will fill in a snowflake each time they read for 20 minutes. When their log is full, they will earn a prize. Teens and adults will set a goal of how many books they can read by March 9th. When they reach their goal, they will earn a prize (minimum of three books). Warm up with us and a good book!

JANUARY HOURS & CLOSURES

Please note that we have returned to our regular hours. The Marshall Public Library will be open Monday through Thursday from 9 am to 9 pm, and Friday and Saturday from 9 am to 6 pm. As always, we will be closed on Sundays.

We will also be closed on January 21st in observance of Martin Luther King, Jr. Day.

EMERGENCY DISPLAY

Beginning Monday, January 7, Marshall Public Library will feature Colleen Hughes' collection related to the influential 70's TV medical drama, Emergency! Items will include photos and memorabilia from the program and the fans who have kept it alive for the past 40 years. Emergency! is credited with having inspired numerous people and communities to practice and expand paramedic and EMS services throughout the U.S. The Hughes collection will appear on the second floor, in addition to a continuing display in honor of Hollywood fashion designer and Pocatello native Edward Stevenson.

PRONUNCIATOR

Have you set your New Year's Resolutions yet? If you're like us, you might have set a goal to learn a new language this year. Luckily for you, the Marshall Public Library has tons of great language-learning resources available to our patrons.

You might already be aware of our collection of language-learning books and CDs on the 2nd floor, in the 500s. But you might not be aware of our online language-learning center: Pronunciator! Pronunciator is an online software tool that we provide to our patrons. If you create an account with your library card, you can learn a new language, starting at any level from beginner to expert. Pronunciator is completely free to you, and includes both textual and audio resources. It'll even track your progress!

You can find access to Pronunciator on our website under the heading "Research Tools". If you have any questions, feel free to give us a call at 208-232-1263 or come in and speak to a librarian. We're happy to help. Good luck this year!
